Parking

Metered parking (25 cents for 20 minutes) is available in front of the store. Meters are enforced 8am-6pm Monday through Saturday (except for federal holidays). Note the number on the pole you park by, and pay at the box located between the dental office driveway and Popeyes driveway. The box accepts quarters, dollar coins, and credit cards, and prints a receipt that shows the expiration time. Meter parking for vehicles with Disability License Plates or a Disability Certificate is free. (Rates and hours shown are subject to change without notice - the meters are run by the city, not by us.)

Free parking is also available in the dental office lot from 5pm-8pm Monday through Thursday, and all day Friday, Saturday, and Sunday.

Autographing Events (at Uncle Hugo's)

Saturday, October 10, 1-2pm Ctein - Saturn Run (co-written with John Sandford)

John Sandford will not be at the event, but may stop by earlier in the week to sign stock.

How's Business?
By Don Blyly

We are once again participating in the Hennepin County "Choose to Reuse" program. The coupon book has coupons for several used book stores, three used record stores, a bunch of thrift stores, used clothing stores, used electronics stores, used sports equipment stores, used furniture and office equipment stores, a couple of equipment rental places, etc. The deals vary from store to store, but 20% off for used stuff is most common. The coupons are good August 1 through October 31, 2015. We have a display of the coupon books right inside our front door, but they are also being distributed at Hennepin County libraries and some other official Hennepin County buildings. It's also supposed to be possible to download the coupons with a smart phone, but nobody at the Uncles has a smart enough phone to manage that. The coupons are only good for in-store purchases, not for mail orders.

We see an increase in business every summer. Partly, it's because local customers find it easier to get around than during the winter. Partly, it's because we see a lot of once-a-year customers from out-of-state making their annual trip to vacation in Minnesota or western Wisconsin and they've made a stop at the Uncles part of their annual vacation. (Funny how folks from warmer climates seldom come to Minnesota to vacation in January or February.) Since the Sheraton Hotel was built across the street and especially since the convention business has recovered, we've been having a lot of guests at the Sheraton look out their windows, see the Uncles, and come over to look around. Some of the hotel guests just wander around, saying something along the lines of "I've never seen a bookstore like this before" and then leave without buying anything (and often without putting books back where they picked them up). But some of the hotel guests do buy a few books. And some buy a lot of books and have us ship the books back home for them. While our sales are up compared to winter, the sales are about even with the last couple of summers.

We've been having frequent computer problems lately, perhaps partly because the equipment seems to have aged faster than I had realized. The worst was several weeks ago when we had a violent Friday night/Saturday morning thunderstorm that knocked down lots of trees, leaving about 240,000 homes and businesses without power. When I walked into the Uncles Saturday morning a few hours before opening, I found that we had lost power for a few minutes and I had to restart some computers. I pushed the power button on the server, lights lit up, and it went buzz, buzz, buzz, but the monitor wouldn't light up and the other computers couldn't find the server. We couldn't use the cash registers at all or process charge cards in the regular manner. A friend of the store was able to come over mid-afternoon and found the problem. The server's RAM got fried, either when the power went down or when the power went back on. We had a couple of other identical models of computer that we replaced a few years ago with newer computers, so there were plenty of spare parts available, and about 2:30 pm we had the cash registers back in operation. Across the street, the Sheraton didn't get their power back until about 4:00 pm (which meant no food service and no air conditioning on a day around 90 degrees), and the Global Marketplace's annual music festival (with two outdoor stages and one indoor stage) also had no power, no food or beverage service, and no air conditioning until 4:00 pm. I'm hoping to be able to replace the entire computer network at the Uncles in the next couple of months, which will probably mean headaches for a couple of days and then hopefully things will improve a lot.

But the problems with our own computers were just the beginning of the technological headaches. One day we lost our internet connection, but that was because our router died, and was easy to fix. A few weeks later, the internet slowed down so badly that our credit card processing software kept timing out before it could get a response. After 4 hours, Comcast got the problem fixed for the entire area. Four days later, the entire area lost internet service for another 4 hours. (During the second outage of the week, I realize how unfair it was that our fax machine didn't also die when the internet went down: the spammers can still get to us by fax. All winter we get faxes telling us that the human resources department wants us to vacation in Mexico or the Caribbean, using a particular travel agency. During the second internet outage of the week, we received a fax informing us that the h.r. department wants us all to go to a federal training camp to learn to be forklift operators.) We also had problems a couple of times with our website not loading from the server (which I think is now in Virginia, after many years in California). Tech support was not very helpful and kept trying to claim that it was our fault that their server was not working properly. Most recently, the telephone line to Uncle Hugo's went dead. CenturyLink was quick to switch the calls coming into Uncle Hugo's over to the Uncle Edgar's line (so Elizabeth could deal with twice her normal load of robo-calls and boiler room calls), but said it would take a full week before they could send somebody out to look for the problem. (So, Comcast goes down more often than I would like but gets things fixed within 4 hours; CenturyLink goes down and won't send a repairman for a week, and CenturyLink can't figure out why I don't switch my internet service over to them.)

The e-book situation continues to be interesting. Barnes & Noble did have e-book distribution for the Nook set up in 40 countries, but in July they announced that as of August 7 they would only sell e-books to customers in the U.S. and the U.K. I've read that when Sony got out of the e-book market and sold out to Kobo, most of the e-books purchased from Sony became impossible to access and Kobo was unwilling to help. Many people in other countries who bought e-books from B&N are now wondering if the same thing will happen to them now. Amazon saw the sales of the Kindle tablet decrease by nearly 70% last holiday season compared to the year before. The American Booksellers Association arranged a deal where member stores could sell Kobo e-book readers and e-books, but the sales are reported to be less than spectacular. Of course, if a bookstore has a choice between making $10 by selling a hardcover copy of a title or making $.50 by selling the e-book of the same title, they probably won't push the e-book very hard. And the percentage of the book market claimed by e-books grew only slightly in the last year. What we've seen among Uncles' customers is that a few have switched completely to e-books, a lot of customers have tried e-books and find them useful in some situations (going on vacation or for a book that is no longer available in the print version) but have found that they enjoy reading printed books more than reading e-books, and a lot of customers still haven't tried e-books and are not very interested in trying them.

I just read a report on the book industry in Greece. In late June, the government limited the amount that could be withdrawn from bank accounts and made it extremely difficult to send funds outside of Greece. Since then bookstore sales have dropped between 50% and 80%, sales of books from publishers to bookstores has dropped by 80%, and publishing new books has stopped. Seems that all the paper and ink needs to be imported into Greece, and the printers can't pay their bills to their suppliers because of the currency restrictions, so printing has stopped. The publishers are not allowed to pay royalties to authors outside of Greece because of the currency restrictions, but they couldn't afford to pay anyway because the bookstores can't pay their bills because of the currency restrictions.

Short Recommendations by Don Blyly

Son of the Black Sword by Larry Correia ($25.00) is the first of the Saga of the Forgotten Warrior series, and is very different from any other novels that Larry has written. There are no guns and very little humor in the first volume. This is a more traditional fantasy novel, set on a world with a rigid caste system. There was a war many centuries ago between the humans and the demons, that eventually lead to the demons controlling the seas and the humans controlling the land. Over the centuries, the number of magical weapons has slowly decreased, and without the magical weapons the demons will take the land away from the humans. After its previous bearer died, a powerful ancient sword picked young Ashok to be its new bearer (after killing or maiming the other humans who first tried to claim it). After years of training, Ashok became a Protector, part of an elite military order of roving law enforcers. Ashok became legendary not only for defeating incursions by the demons, but also for having a very rigid black and white attitude towards law enforcement. Political maneuverings among the leading human factions, plus some uncovered secrets from Ashok's past, place Ashok on the wrong side of the law, but his rigid black and white attitudes continue. Larry will be signing at Uncle Hugo's on Tuesday, October 27, 5-6 pm.

A few years ago, when it seemed like half of Uncle Hugo's new release section was paranormal romances, it was hard to find much space opera. That is no longer the case. Nemesis Games by James S.A. Corey ($27.00) is the fifth volume in The Expanse series. In the first three books in this wonderful series, Leviathan Wakes ($17.00), Caliban's War ($17.00), and Abaddon's Gate ($17.00), the action takes place in the Solar system. In the fourth book, Cibola Burn ($17.00), the humans are using alien technology to expand into the galaxy, and James Holden and the crew of the Rocinante are sent through the alien gateway to try to make peace between a group of independent settlers and a powerful corporate colony ship, which becomes even more difficult when the billion year old artificial planet wakes up and turns violent. In Nemesis Games, the Rocinante is back in the Solar system for massive repairs. Holden stays with the ship to supervise repairs, and the rest of the crew split up to tie up loose ends from their earlier lives, Amos back to the slums of Earth, Alex back to Mars, and Naomi among a radical political element of the asteroid belt. This allows the book to fill in a lot of back story regarding the main characters, to show in more depth the deep political divisions within the Solar system, and has the crew spread all over the place when all hell breaks loose, so we can view things from four different points of view. I suspect the next book will go back to the galaxy. The last I read, the SyFy channel series based on The Expanse is supposed to begin broadcasting in December. The first episode was shown at the San Diego ComicCon, and received very favorable reviews.

Empire of Dust by Jacey Bedford ($7.99) is the first published novel by a new British author, and it's a very good old fashioned space opera. Hundred of jump gates have allowed the humans to expand to over 1000 colony worlds, and the megacorps are always looking for more worlds to terraform and sell to new batches of colonists. They are also constantly searching for teenagers with a bit of psi ability, and those they find are "given" hardware in their brains to greatly boost their psi abilities and lots of training to use that hardware, after which they owe decades of work to the megacorps as psi-techs to pay off the megacorps' investment in the hardware and training. The megacorps profit not only from selling new worlds to colonists, but also from renting teams of psi-techs to help the colonies to develop and thrive. Cara is a runaway psi-tech, who has proof of how corrupt and ruthless her former employer is. She teams up (under a false identity) with a psi-tech from a competing megacorp to help establish a new colony on the edge of the frontier, hoping that will keep her former employer from tracking her down. But there are soon problems with the new colonists, with the planet, and with corruption within competing megacorps. Crossways ($7.99), the sequel, has just arrived, and is also very good.

Linesman by S.K. Dunstall ($7.99) is another good space opera by another new author (actually two sisters writing together). Five hundred years before the novel begins, an alien spaceship was found and the technology was replicated to allow humans to get to the stars. There are ten lines that control a spaceship, with three of the lines being vital for getting to the stars. The job of a linesman is to keep the ten lines functioning properly. There are a lot of people who are capable of balancing the lower lines, but only fifty people in the human part of the galaxy who have the skills needed to balance all ten lines. After five hundred years, the humans have colonized hundreds of worlds and split into three major power blocks, each with extensive space military forces. All of the linesmen are members of the Linesmen's Guild, which handles certification and working conditions, and is supposed to insulate linesmen from the political squabbles of the different power blocks. After five hundred years of not finding any aliens, the humans have found another alien artifact, much more powerful than the earlier alien ship, and everybody wants to control the new artifact. The story is told from the points of view of two very different level ten linesmen. I'm eagerly awaiting the next installment of the story.

It's been almost three years since Michael Cobley's Humanity's Fire series came out, but I just got around to reading it. The books are Seeds of Earth ($9.00), The Orphaned Worlds ($9.00), and The Ascendant Stars ($9.00). This is a very big universe space opera, like those of Peter F. Hamilton or Iain M. Banks, with lots of things going on. In the first book, Earth is under attack by Swarmers, a large insect-like race trying to conquer this part of the galaxy. Earth manages to send off three colony ships using random hyperjumps so that they can't be followed. One of the colony ships reaches a planet (Darien) with a moon that also supports life, and both the planet and the moon are already populated by a short, furry race called the Uvovo, who take in the humans and help them survive. After 150 years of isolation, they are found by Earthsphere. Seems that shortly after the colony ships left, another alien empire (the Sendrukan Hegemony) came along, became allies of Earth, helped to defeat the Swarmers, and have been dominating Earth ever since. Seems there are lots of alien empires out there, and they are often at war, and the Hegemony is happy to use Earth troops in their wars. About the time the Earthsphere ship arrives, the colonists discover the remains of a Forerunner military installation that was critical in a major galactic war 100,000 years ago. Suddenly, the Hegemony and many other empires want to take Darien away from both the humans and the Uvovo and discover the Forerunner secrets. The three books are fast paced, fairly complex, with lots of interesting characters to remember, and a strange idea about hyperspace I've never seen before. The other two missing colonies also become part of the story. The story arc is completed at the end of the third book, but a new novel set in the same universe will be coming next January.

I am a big fan of Eric Flint's 1632 ($7.99) and most of the many sequels to it. But when Time Spike by Eric Flint and Marilyn Kosmatka ($7.99) came out in 2010, I didn't realize that it tied in with 1632, so I didn't get around to reading it until recently. Since the events described in 1632 took place, it seems that the U.S. government has been trying to cover up whatever happened, and many scientists have been quietly trying to find out the truth. When another major time displacement event takes place (sending an under-staffed maximum security prison from southern Illinois millions of years into the past, and sweeping up Indians from before the Europeans reached North America, some early Spanish explorers, and some Cherokees and US troops from the Trail of Tears and sending them all to the same time period), we see both what's going on in current times and back in the Cretaceous. This book can be read and enjoyed entirely on its own, but I think a lot of fans of 1632 will be particularly interested in it.

I've read and enjoyed a lot of Robert J. Sawyer's books over the years, but I recently got around to reading his WWW trilogy (WWW: Wake ($7.99), WWW: Watch ($7.99), and WWW: Wonder ($7.99)), and I enjoyed it more than any of his other works. An intelligent being evolves on the worldwide web, and is discovered by Caitlin, a sixteen-year-old girl in Canada who had been blind since birth until she received an experimental implant to convert the signal from her optic nerve into something that her brain can comprehend. The first experiment doesn't show her what the outside world looks like, but rather shows her the worldwide web as no other human has ever seen it. Once she finds the intelligent being, she sets out to raise it, train it, and protect it from both the US and Chinese governments' efforts to harm it. Sawyer smoothly conveys large amounts of science without slowing down the plot, and the assortment of humans characters is interesting and well developed.

I'm a big fan of Kat Richardson's Greywalker series of urban fantasies, and she has announced that Revenant (#9, $7.99) is the last Greywalker book, at least for a while, as she tries her hand at some other projects. The earlier books in the series consist of Greywalker ($7.99), Poltergeist ($7.99), Underground ($7.99), Vanished ($7.99), Labyrinth ($7.99), Downpour ($7.99), Seawitch ($7.99), and Possession ($7.99), and they should be read in order. Harper Blaine was a small-time Seattle PI until she was briefly killed on a case. She was resuscitated within two minutes, but ever since then she has been a greywalker, able to step between the world of the living and the world of the dead (and all kinds of supernatural threats). This has led her to take some pretty strange cases. She also met and eventually took as a lover Quinton, a man with very different skills, on the run from his crazed father, a former CIA operative who is now trying to create paranormal tools to carry out his own deranged political plots. In Revenant, Harper follows Quinton to Portugal (with the help of a vampire/necromancer she has dealt with in Seattle in many earlier books, but who was originally from Portugal hundreds of years ago). An ancient cult has become an ally of Quinton's father, but they have their own diabolical plans, even worse than Quinton's father's plans. If Harper and Quinton don't foil the plans, millions of people will die.

Recommendations by Elizabeth LaVelle

Barbara Hamilton (aka Barbara Hambly) takes us to 1770s Massachusetts, a colony deeply divided between patriots demanding changes in governance and loyalists supporting British rule. The Sons of Liberty are agitating for change: firebrand Sam Adams is their leader, silversmith Paul Revere organizes their information network, and lawyer John Adams, Sam's cousin, writes broadsides under a variety of pen names - all of them risking imprisonment or hanging for treason if the Provost General can find evidence connecting them to these activities. This makes things quite complicated for John's wife Abigail in The Ninth Daughter ($8.99), when she finds a brutally murdered woman in her friend Rebecca's kitchen one morning. Rebecca, who also works with the Sons of Liberty, has disappeared, no one knows where. And the dead woman turns out to be the wife of a wealthy loyalist, not to mention the mistress of the commander of the British garrison. Assistant Provost Marshal Lieutenant Coldstone suspects John Adams of being the killer. As Coldstone investigates the murder, he and Abigail go from adversaries to allies, but it's a cautious partnership: they each have political knowledge they don't want revealed to the other. Abigail is also determined to find out what has become of Rebecca.

In A Marked Man ($8.99), bookseller Harry Knox is arrested for the murder of crown official Sir Jonathan Cottrell, an unscrupulous lecher who was planning to marry the woman Knox loves - Lucy Fluckner, the daughter of a wealthy loyalist. There is also suspicion of a political motive for the killing - Cottrell was dispatched from England to gather information about traitors in the colony, and Knox is known to be a patriot. (In fact, Knox was printing broadsides for the Sons of Liberty the night of the killing, which leaves him unable to supply an alibi.) But Lieutenant Coldstone has serious doubts about the case, based on the condition of the corpse and what he's discovered, and turns to Abigail for help finding out more about the dead man's activities the day of his death (she turns to Paul Revere for help gathering information). Abigail is additionally motivated to help by a request from Lucy Fluckner, a very determined young woman who had no intention of marrying Cottrell, and has every intention of marrying Knox. As she investigates, Abigail also tries to find out what happened to Philomena, a slave woman who has vanished from the Fluckner household, leaving behind two small children.

Sup with the Devil ($7.99) takes Abigail to Harvard, where her young nephew Horace is a student, to investigate a strange attempt on his life. While she is there, George Fairfield, a pleasant and popular student from Virginia, is murdered. The sheriff and the college officials are certain Fairfield was killed by his slave Diomedes, but the facts Abigail discovers don't bear that out. She has her work cut out getting to the bottom of both mysteries. Hambly is a historian, and the plots are nicely fleshed out with details about the politics of the day, the lives of colonial men and women, and daily life in the Adams household. Abigail and John have a strong, loving marriage, and John has great respect for Abigail's intelligence - his nickname for her is 'Portia', after Shakespeare's intrepid woman lawyer. And, despite occasional grumbles about the absences entailed by John's travels as a lawyer, Abigail's affection for him is clear. Also clear are her feelings about cousin Sam - as much as Abigail supports the political positions of the Sons of Liberty, she is not in favor of Sam's more reckless activities, which repeatedly complicate both her personal life and her investigations. And I really enjoyed her interactions with Coldstone - their verbal fencing is delightful, and their gradual transition from icy enmity to cautious alliance to mutual respect and cooperation is entirely believable. I loved Abigail as a character, and as a sleuth, and I wish the series was longer.

Although her skills with humans still need some work, animal behaviorist Grace Wilde puts her ability to communicate with animals to good use again in Horse of a Different Killer ($7.99, third in the series after Woof at the Door and A Tiger's Tale, $7.99 each) by Laura Morrigan. Grace sheds no tears when she learns that Tony Ortega, the abusive ex who put her sister Emma in the hospital years ago, is dead. Unfortunately, Emma been arrested for his murder, and a strangely hostile detective is in charge of the investigation. Ortega had been trying to reach Grace for days before his death, but she hadn't returned any of his calls. When she decides to do some digging, her only lead is Ortega's fiancée Jasmine, who thinks the calls were probably about a Friesian horse Ortega purchased as a gift for her - a horse that has disappeared from the stable where it was boarded. Jasmine asks Grace to track down the horse; along the way, Grace hopes to find some ideas about who really killed Ortega. And she'll have some help doing that from Kai, her hunky crime scene investigator boyfriend. As always, Morrigan does a great job with her characters, both human and animal (I especially enjoyed the goats this time), and the suspense of the investigation is nicely leavened with scenes of Grace at work - figuring out how to get an escaped koala out of a tree, or why a normally quiet cat is suddenly shredding the curtains - and at home, talking to her sister, walking her dog, dealing with the latest chaos her kitten has created. I also love Grace's snarky sense of humor (like telling the detective staring at Emma's antique wardrobe that it leads to Narnia), and the fact that she's smart, capable, and pretty good at getting out of whatever trouble she manages to get herself into as she investigates.

Mo and Dale, aka the Desperado Detective Agency, are back in business in The Ghosts of Tupelo Landing ($7.99, ages 10 and up), sequel to Three Times Lucky ($7.99, ages 10 and up, a Newbery Honor book and Edgar Award finalist) by Sheila Turnage. When the Old Tupelo Inn (established 1880, closed 1938) and its contents go to the auction block, pretty much everyone in town plans to attend. Miss Lana has her eye on an umbrella stand, but teams up with Miss Lacy to buy the inn when a nasty out-of-towner starts bidding on it. They plan to resell the inn to someone nicer, but there might be some trouble with that: the inn also has a bona fide ghost (as disclosed in the fine print of the auction documents). Next thing you know, Mo loses her temper at school, and says she and Dale are going to interview the ghost for a history assignment. While working on this project, they find plenty of mysteries at the inn. Who is the ghost, and why is she haunting the place? Why is curmudgeonly local moonshiner Mr. Red Baker sneaking around the grounds at night? And why is that out-of-towner really interested in the property? It's a lot to investigate, but Mo and Dale are up to the job (with some help from new kid in town Harm Crenshaw and the supporting cast of responsible adults). The book is humorous and warm-hearted, and also deals gently with thornier issues, like poverty in the community, and Dale's mixed feelings about his violent father's incarceration. I'm looking forward to book 3 in the series, The Odds of Getting Even ($16.99, expected early October).

Mystery Reviews by Gerri Balter

The most interesting thing about Death on Blackheath by Anne Perry ($16.00) is that even though the mystery took place during the Victorian era, it could have just as easily taken place today. It begins with the disappearance of a lady's maid, not something that Thomas Pitt, head of Special Branch, should have investigated. The problem is that the maid is part of the household of naval weapons expert, Dudley Kynaston. Pitt finds blood, hair, and shards of glass outside the house. Although he finds no proof of anything lethal, a mutilated body of a young woman who could have been the maid is found near the Kynaston home. There is no proof that this woman is the maid he's looking for. But there is something's wrong with the whole thing. Could the maid have seen something she shouldn't? Could the truth harm the country? That's what Pitt has to find out.

Desert Noir by Betty Webb ($14.95) begins with a murder. Lena Jones finds the body of her friend, Clarice Kobe, who has been beaten to death. She felt sure she knew who the guilty person was, Clarice's husband who beat her on a regular basis. When his lawyer asks for her help in proving his innocence, she doesn't want to say yes. But then she finds out that he has an alibi. Delving into Clarice's life is sad for her as she finds out her friend isn't the nice person she thought she was. She comes from a dysfunctional family and she was dysfunctional as well. Clarice angered a great many people to get what she wanted. Lena has more suspects than she realized she would have. Meanwhile someone is trying to kill her to get her off the case.

I came back from London and picked up a book that is set in, you guessed it, London. Cloche and Dagger by Jenn McKinlay ($7.99) begins when Scarlett Parker escapes from her viral video depicting her attacking the man who lied to her. She goes to London, hoping to find some peace and quiet while working at Mim's Whims, a ladies hat shop on Portebello Run that has been left to her and her cousin Viv. Viv has been running the shop but when Scarlett arrives, Viv has disappeared. With no idea of what is going on, she takes over the shop. Then one of her customers is murdered wearing nothing but a hot that Scarlett sold her. Because the dead woman's husband is in love with Viv, she is the prime suspect. Scarlett is not about to let anyone accuse her cousin of murder. She decides to find out the truth with the help of a former boyfriend who has turned into a very handsome man.

A Deadly Grind ($7.99) is the first of a new series by Victoria Hamilton. The first thing I liked about this book, long before I knew anything about the plot, was that the protagonist, Jaymie Leighton, stands up to her sister, Rebecca. Also it is obvious that in spite of their differences that they care about each other. Jaymie is a collector of vintage cookware. When she sees an original 1920's Hoosier-brand kitchen cabinet at an estate auction, she is determined to have it in spite of her sister's protests that the house they both own has too many objects in it. She manages to bid high enough to win the cabinet. She gets help bringing the cabinet home and storing it temporarily on her summer porch until she can clean it. What she doesn't expect is that a man will be murdered with the grinder from that cabinet. She doesn't know the dead man and has no idea what he's doing on her summer porch. Could it have something to do with the cabinet?

- Petrova, Svetlana Fat Cat Art $14.95 (Classic paintings are better when you add a chubby ginger cat to the composition! And Zarathustra's captions add feline purr-spective to art history.)
- Preus, Margi West of the Moon $7.95 (Ages 10 and up. After being sold to a cruel goat farmer, young Astri makes a daring escape and retrieves her younger sister. Armed with troll treasure, a book of spells and curses, and a possibly magical hairbrush, they set off to join their father in America, heading over the Norwegian mountains and in and out of folktales and dreams.)
- Prineas, Sarah Ash & Bramble $17.99 (Ages 13 and up. Pin and Shoe escape from servitude in the Godmother's stone prison, but Pin is captured again and forced to live the new life the Godmother chooses for her, entangled in a story that leads to a prince, a ball, and a glass slipper left behind. But Pin is more than ready to rescue herself before the clock strikes midnight, and find her own happily ever after.)
- Prineas, Sarah Home $7.99 (Magic Thief #4: Ages 8 and up. Duchess Rowan has promoted Con to ducal magister, but the other wizards see him only as a thief. Now something sinister is brewing: magicians' locus stones are being stolen, and magical spells are going awry. As Conn faces old enemies and powerful magical forces, is he strong enough to save Wellmet?)
- Pullman, Philip The Golden Compass 20th anniversary edition $25.99 (His Dark Materials #1: Ages 10 and up. Slipcased edition featuring a new interview with Pullman. Lyra is rushing to the North, where witch clans and armored bears rule, where the Gobblers take the children they steal (including her friend Roger), where her uncle Asriel is trying to build a bridge to a parallel world. Can one girl make a difference in such great endeavors? This is Lyra: a savage, a schemer, a liar, and as fierce a champion as Roger or Asriel could want. What she doesn't know is that to help one of them will be to betray the other.)
- Pullman, Philip The Golden Compass Volume 1 graphic novel $9.99 (His Dark Materials GN #1A: Ages 10 and up. 1st in a 3-part adaptation of the fantasy novel.)
- Raasch, Sara Snow Like Ashes $9.99 (Meira #1: Ages 14 and up. Years ago, the Kingdom of Winter was conquered and its citizens enslaved. A few survivors escaped, and have been waiting to steal back Winter's magic and rebuild the kingdom. Meira is a refugee, raised by Winter's general. When scouts discover the location of the locket that can restore their magic, she decides to go after it herself.)
- Russell, Gary Big Bang Generation $9.99 (Doctor Who: Features the 12th Doctor. Sydney, 2015: A time portal opens. Strange individuals arrive to claim a massive glowing pyramid. They're followed by a bunch of con artists, led by Doc (busy making sure the universe isn't destroyed in an explosion). Then someone accidentally reawakens 'The Ancients of the Universe' - which Doc reckons wasn't the best-judged of actions.)
- Ryan, C/Davis, J The Map to Everywhere $8.00 (Ages 8 and up. Wherever you need to go, the Map to Everywhere can take you there. To Master Thief Fin, it's the key to finding his mother. To schoolgirl Marrill, it's her only way home. With the help of a bumbling wizard and his crew, they must scour the many worlds of the Pirate Stream to gather the pieces of the Map.)
- Sage, Angie PathFinder $7.99 (TodHunter Moon #1: Ages 8 and up. Takes place seven years after the Septimus Heap series. When the Garmin take her best friend Ferdie, it's up to young PathFinder Alice TodHunter Moon and Ferdie's brother Oskar to rescue Ferdie from the Garmins' keeper, the malevolent Lady.)
- Sanders, Rob Legion of the Damned $12.99 (Warhammer 40,000: Space Marine Battles: Reissue; As the Excoriators Chapter struggles to protect the cemetery world of Certus Minor from the berserk World Eaters, salvation arrives when spectral warriors descend upon

- this planet of the dead, bringing the enemies of the Imperium face to face with those who have already traveled beyond the realm of the living.)
- Schmatz, Pat Lizard Radio $16.99 (Ages 14 and up. Abandoned as a baby and raised by an ardent nonconformist, 15-year-old bender Kivali has had a rough time in a gender-rigid culture. Is it true she was deposited on Earth by the mysterious saurians? What are you, people ask, and she isn't sure. Boy/girl? Human/lizard? Both/neither? But she has a gift, the power to enter a trancelike state to harness the 'knowings' inside her.)
- Stanley, John P. Mickey Price: Journey to Oblivion $9.99 (Ages 8 and up. 1977: Three kids are invited to a NASA camp to train for a mission unlike anything they ever dreamed of.)
- Tassi, Paul The Last Exodus $15.99 (Earthborn #1: In the aftermath of an alien invasion, Earth's seas are drying up while the atmosphere corrodes. Among the few survivors is Lucas, who is trekking cross-country in search of his family. What he finds is an alien ship, buried in a crater wall. To fly it, he must join forces with Alpha, an alien scientist, and Asha, a merciless raider. But unless they find common ground, all will die stranded on Earth.)
- van Eekhout, Greg Dragon Coast $24.99 (Osteomancer #3: Sam is lost, consumed by the great Pacific fire Drake. But he is still alive and aware, in magical form, trapped inside the dragon. Daniel has a plan to rescue Sam - but he'll need to steal the axis mundi under the gaze of the Northern Hierarch herself - and that's just the first obstacle.)
- Walters, Eric End of Days $9.99 (Ages 12 and up. The world's most renowned astrophysicists, astronomers, and mathematicians have all died within the same 12-month period, or so their friends and families think. In reality, an asteroid is threatening Earth, and the world's brightest minds are huddled together, plotting to avert catastrophe. But it's only when Billy, a boy with rare gifts, is recruited that they can hope to prevail.)
- Walters, Eric Regenesis $9.99 (Ages 12 and up. Sequel to End of Days. An asteroid has hit Earth: the end of the world is just beginning. Billy and his companions have been taking refuge in outer space, hoping to avert the catastrophe. But what will it take to survive?)
- Wendig, Chuck Blackbirds $15.99 (Miriam Black #1: Reissue; Miriam can see how someone will die just by touching them, allowing her to solve murders before they happen. But what will happen when she's tasked with solving a death she's unknowingly going to cause?)

- Adams, D/Goss, J City of Death $26.95 (Doctor Who: Novel (written by James Goss) based on the TV episode (written by Douglas Adams). The Doctor, Romana, and K-9 arrive in Paris for a vacation, only to discover that they have landed in the middle of an audacious alien scheme.)
- Applegate, Katherine Crenshaw $16.99 (Ages 10 and up. Jackson's family has fallen on hard times, and they may have to live in their minivan again. Crenshaw is a large, outspoken, imaginary cat who has come back into Jackson's life to help him. But is an imaginary friend enough to save this family from losing everything?)
- Aryan, Stephen Battlemage $15.99 (Age of Darkness #1: PBO; Balfruss is a battlemage, sworn to fight and die for a country that fears and despises his kind. Vargus is a common soldier, down in the front lines getting blood on his blade. Talandra is a princess and spymaster, but the war may force her to risk everything and make the greatest sacrifice of all.)
- Atwood, Margaret The Heart Goes Last $26.95 (In the midst of economic and social collapse, job loss has forced Stan and Charmaine to live in their car. The Positron Project seems to be the answer. Everyone gets a comfortable house to live in - for six months of the year. On alternating months, residents must serve as inmates in the prison system. When

- their month of service in the prison is completed, they can return to their 'civilian' homes. At first it doesn't seem too bad, but with each passing day, Positron looks less like a prayer answered and more like a chilling prophecy fulfilled.)
- Balderrama, O/Certo, L
Barlowe, Wayne
Barnhill, Kelly
Vengeance $7.99 (Arrow: PBO; Novel based on the TV show.)

The Witch's Boy $7.95 (Ages 10 and up. When Ned and his brother tumble into a bewitched river, and only Ned survives, the villagers say the wrong boy lived. Ned grows up weak and slow, but when a Bandit King comes to steal the magic, it's Ned who safeguards it. The Bandit King's daughter Aine is haunted by her mother's last words to her: The wrong boy will save your life and you will save his. When their paths cross, can Aine and Ned trust each other long enough to stop the war about to boil over?)
- Bear, Greg
Killing Titan $26.00 (Ares Rising #2: Master Sergeant Michael Venn returns to Mars to further his investigation into the Drifters, but another front in the war leads his team to Titan.)
- Benson, Robert Hugh
Lord of the World $12.95 (Doomsday Classics: Reissue; Originally published in 1907. Protestantism is over, Catholicism is driven underground, and the Eastern religions have merged into a single pantheistic creed that poses an ongoing military threat to the West. Without a spiritual dimension to their lives, some choose legal euthanasia rather than an empty existence. When a charismatic leader arises, in their eagerness for change, people support the coming of the Antichrist and the end of days.)
- Black, Holly
White Cat $9.99 (Curse Workers #1: Ages 14 and up. Cassel's brothers are keeping secrets from him, caught up in a mysterious plot. As Cassel begins to suspect he's part of a huge con game, he also wonders if his friend Lila could still be alive. To find that out, Cassel will have to out-con the conmen.)
- Bova, Ben/Johnson, Les
Rescue Mode $7.99 (After a meteoroid strike, the eight people of the first human Mars mission desperately struggle to survive. If they can't get the ship to Mars and back to Earth, they will either become the first Martian colonists, or the first humans to perish on another planet.)
- Bow, Erin
The Scorpion Rules $17.99 (Prisoners of Peace #1: Ages 14 and up. When wars broke out in the aftermath of global environmental catastrophes, the UN put an AI in charge of conflict abatement. The AI took an unexpected approach for the short term, and for the long term revived an ancient method for keeping the peace. 400 years later, the children of world leaders are held hostage - if a war begins, they pay with their lives.)
- Brisbin, Terri
Raging Sea $7.99 (Stone Circles #2: PBO; Eons ago, the goddess of chaos was trapped under a ring of stones. Now, in the 13th century, she threatens to escape. The fate of all humanity is in the hands of Ran, whose powers control the sea, and Soren, whose powers control the sky. But can Ran trust Soren when he has betrayed her love and trust before?)
- Butcher, Jim
The Aeronaut's Windlass $27.95 (Cinder Spires #1: Since time immemorial the cinder spires have provided shelter for humanity. But now the Ancient Enemy, who sank the world into a shroud of mists and filled it with monstrous and fantastic creatures, is once again awake. The great powers which once stopped the Enemy are all but gone from the world; now the fate of humanity rests on the loyalty and courage of a single airship's crew.)
- Campbell, J (Hemry, J)
Imperfect Sword $7.99 (Lost Stars #3: President Gwen Iceni and General Artur Drakon and their forces face threats from the former rulers of the Syndicate Worlds, and from another former CEO who is moving to establish his own little empire.)
- Campbell, John L.
Crossbones $16.00 (Omega Days #4: PBO; The USS Nimitz survivors have made a floating fortress to survive the onslaught of the walking dead. But as their haven is besieged, they come up against the most deadly obstacle yet - the cruel whims of nature itself.)
- Card, Orson Scott
Gatefather $25.99 (Mithermages #3: Danny North battled the Gate Thief, and won. What he didn't know is that the Gate Thief had a very good reason for closing the Great Gates - and now Danny has fallen into the power of a great enemy of both Earth and Westil.)
- Carriger, Gail
Waistcoats & Weaponry $10.00 (Finishing School #3: Ages 12 and up. To return their classmate Sidheag to her werewolf pack in Scotland, Sophronia, Dimity, Soap, and Lord Felix Mersey stow away on a suspiciously empty train, where Sophronia uncovers a plot that threatens to throw all of London into chaos.)

Cleese, John So, Anyway . . . $16.00 (Autobiography of the great comic actor.)

Davidson, MaryJanice Undead and Unforgiven $25.95 (Betsy Taylor #14: Betsy has been outed by Laura. Now people not only believe in vampires, they want to kill them. With her mansion swarming with reporters, vampire killers, and emos begging to be turned, Betsy is forced into the role of reluctant face of the vampire nation.)

de Pierres, Marianne Mythmaker $7.99 (Virgin Jackson #2: PBO; The murder rap hanging over her head isn't likely to go away unless Virgin agrees to work for GJIC. Being blackmailed is one thing, discovering that her mother is alive and president of GJIC is quite another. And then there's the escalation of Mythos sightings and the bounty on her head.)

DeLima, Jan Autumn Moon $7.99 (Celtic Moon #3: PBO; For centuries, Cormack has been a man trapped in the body of a wolf, shunned by humans and shifters alike. Only Elen, an outcast who is feared for her strange healing abilities, has ever welcomed him. He is determined to win her heart - but first he must save her when she is captured by the evil leader of the Guardians.)

Dodson, Zachary Thomas Bats of the Republic $27.95 (1843: Naturalist Zadock Thomas leaves Chicago to deliver a secret letter to an infamous general on the front lines of the war over Texas. The fate of the volatile republic, along with Zadock's future, depends on his mission. When a cloud of bats leads him off the trail, he happens upon something impossible. 2143: The world has collapsed, and the remnants of humanity cling to a strange society of paranoia. Zeke Thomas inherited a sealed envelope from his grandfather. When that letter goes missing, Zeke engages a fomenting rebellion. As their stories overlap and history itself begins to unravel, a war in time erupts between a lost civilization, a forgotten future, and the chaos of the wild.)

Drake, D/Van Name (ed) Onward, Drake! $25.00 (Anthology. Original stories and essays paying tribute to David Drake.)

Duncan, Alexandra Sound $17.99 (Ages 13 and up. Set a decade after Salvage. Miyole is living her dream, a research assistant on a space voyage. She could even be given permission to conduct her own research. When her ship saves a rover that has been attacked, Miyole and Cassia, a rescued rover girl, set out to rescue Cassia's abducted brother.)

Feehan, Christine Dark Blood $7.99 (Carpathian #23: With a blood-sworn vow of honor, mercy, and endurance, and under the influence of bewitching Dragonseeker Branislava, Zev begins to wonder what his purpose is, what it means for the future of the Carpathians, and what it is about his rebirth in the sacred cave of warriors that he has to fear.)

Finney, Jack Invasion of the Body Snatchers $15.99 (Reissue; On a quiet fall evening in a peaceful California town, Dr. Miles Bennell discovers that subtly, almost imperceptibly, alien life-forms are taking over the bodies and minds of his neighbors, his friends, his family, the woman he loves, and the entire world he knows.)

Flanagan, John A. The Tournament at Gorlan $18.99 (Ranger's Apprentice: Early Years #1: Ages 10 and up. Traveling to Gorlan to obtain a warrant to stop a traitor, Halt and Crowley discover that Prince Duncan is being held captive, an impostor installed in his place. To prevent a coup, the young Rangers must prove their mettle in battles the likes of which they've never faced.)

Foglio, Phill & Kaja The Beast of the Rails $25.00 (Girl Genius Second Journey Volume 1: Ages 13 and up. Full color graphic novel. When a rival scientist traps the Heterodyne castle and surrounding town in a time-freeze, Agatha must embark on a journey to find a way to reverse the effect.)

Fowler, Christopher The Sand Men $9.99 (PBO; 15-year-old Cara lives in a gated community for Dubai's foreign workers. Her father deals with problems at Dream World, a futuristic beach complex. Lea feels like a virtual prisoner in a land where Western women are regarded with suspicion. When her neighbors start to blame migrants, locals, and each other for a string of terrible occurrences, Lea is convinced that deliberate acts of cruelty are being committed - but is there a real threat to her life, or is she becoming paranoid? What happens in a world where only the rich are important?)

Gaiman, N/Riddell, C The Sleeper and the Spindle $19.99 (Ages 13 and up. In this short story, the tales of Snow White (sort of) and Sleeping Beauty (almost) are woven together with a thread of dark magic. Black & white line art by Chris Riddell.)

Gaiman, Neil et al Free Country: A Tale of the Children's Crusade $24.99 (Full color graphic novel. Collects the 2-issue miniseries, with a new middle chapter by Toby Litt completing the tale, and a new introduction by Gaiman.)

Gannon, Charles E. Raising Caine $17.00 (Caine Riordan #3: PBO; Scant hours after the invasion of Earth is repulsed, the mysterious but potentially helpful Slaasriithi appeal to Caine to shepherd a diplomatic mission on a visit to their very alien worlds. The possible prize:

- a crucial alliance. But Caine and his legation aren't the only ones journeying into Slaasriithi space - renegade K'tor are following, planning to destroy humanity's hopes for a quick alliance.)
- Gibson, William The Peripheral $17.00 (Burton has veteran's benefits, for neural damage he suffered from implants during his time in the USMC's elite Haptic Recon force. One night Burton has to go out, but there's a job he's supposed to do - a job his sister Flynnne didn't know he had - beta-testing part of a new game. There's nothing to it, just work a perimeter around the image of a tower building, and when little buglike things turn up, get in their way and edge them back. He offered Flynnne a good price to take over for him, but what she sees isn't what Burton told her to expect. It might be a game, but it might also be murder.)
- Gilman, Laura Anne Silver on the Road $26.99 (Devil's West #1: Isobel works for the devil in his territory west of the Mississippi. He deals fairly with immense power and offers opportunities to those who want to make a deal, and they always get what they deserve. But his land is wild and needs a human touch - Izzy is his left hand and travels the territory.)
- Gischler, Victor Gestapo Mars $14.95 (Carter Sloan is a trained assassin, pulled out of cryogenic sleep whenever an assignment demands his skills. When he's kept in the deep freeze for 258 years, he's seriously pissed off. But the future of the galaxy-spanning Reich depends on him, so Sloan is off - screwing, swearing, and shooting his way across interstellar space.)
- Harris/Kelner (ed) Dead But Not Forgotten $16.00 (Southern Vampire: Anthology. New stories about your favorite Bon Temps residents from writers who are Sookie Stackhouse fans.)
- Higgins, C.A. Lightless $25.00 (Serving aboard an experimental military spacecraft launched by the ruthless group that rules Earth's solar system, Althea has established an intense bond with the ship's electronic systems, which speak more deeply to her analytical mind than human feelings do. When saboteurs invade the ship, as the ship's systems begin to malfunction, it falls to Althea to penetrate a captured saboteur's layers of intrigue and deception before all is lost.)
- Hodgson, William Hope The Night Land $12.95 (Doomsday Classics: Reissue; Originally published in 1912. In the distant future, the sun has expired, and the Earth's few million survivors are clustered in a gigantic pyramid, under siege by unknown forces.)
- Hogan, Mitchell A Crucible of Souls $17.99 (Sorcery Ascendant #1: When Caldan's parents are slain, the boy is raised by monks who teach him sorcery. Caldan vows to discover what was behind his parents' death, a search that takes him into the unfamiliar and dangerous city.)
- Howard, Jonathan L. The Brothers Cabal $16.99 (Johannes Cabal #4: Affable vampire Horst Cabal is resurrected by an occult conspiracy raising a monstrous army. They plan to create a country of horrors, a supernatural homeland. As Horst sees the lengths to which they are prepared to go, he realizes that he cannot fight them alone. What he needs on his side is a sarcastic, amoral, heavily armed necromancer. As luck would have it, this exactly describes his brother Johannes.)
- Hrbek, Greg Not on Fire, but Burning $24.95 (Skyler saw a metallic object hovering, just before a mushroom cloud rose over San Francisco. Her last thoughts were of her baby brother Dorian, safe in her distant family home. Now the US has been broken into territories, and the Muslims have been herded onto reservations, although no one knows who set off the explosion that destroyed San Francisco. Dorian is twelve. He dreams about killing Muslims, and about Skyler, although his parents insist she never existed. A neighbor adopts a Muslim orphan, setting off a series of incidents that will lead to either tragedy or redemption for Dorian, as he struggles to prove that his sister existed - and was killed by a terrorist attack.)
- Huff, Tanya An Ancient Peace $24.95 (Peacekeeper #1: Like the other Elder Races of the Confederation, the H'san gave up war long ago. Now someone is searching for their lost weapons, capable of destroying entire planets. It's up to Torin Kerr and her team to fix the problem, but the more Torin learns about the relationship between Elder and Younger Races, the more she fears war might be unavoidable.)
- Hurley, Kameron The Empire Ascendant $14.99 (Worldbreaker #2: PBO; Saiduan lies in ruins, decimated by invaders from another world. Now the nation of Dhai is under siege by the same force. Their only hope lies in the hands of an illegitimate ruler and a scullery maid with unpredictable magic. As the foreign Empire spreads, a former ally takes up her Empress's sword again to unseat them, and two enslaved scholars begin a perilous journey home with a secret they hope will be the key to the Empire's undoing.)
- Ing, Dean It's Up to Charlie Hardin $9.99 (Ages 10 and up. 1942: Young teen Charlie Hardin

- Le Guin, Ursula K. The Dispossessed $10.00 (Hainish: Reissue; Hugo and Nebula Award winner. Anarres is a bleak moon settled by an anarchic utopian civilization. Its mother planet Urras is a world of warring nations, great poverty, and immense wealth. The two worlds are cut off from each other by centuries of distrust. Shevek, a brilliant physicist on Anarres, risks everything in a courageous visit to Urras - to learn, to teach, to share. But his gift becomes a threat, and in the profound conflict which ensues, Shevek must reexamine his philosophy of life.)
- Lebbon, Tim Incursion $7.99 (Predator: Rage War #1: PBO; When Predator spacecraft begin entering human space in alarming numbers, the Colonial Marines launch a full military response. Then they discover the presence of Xenomorphs, and realize the threat is even more catastrophic.)
- Leckie, Ann Ancillary Mercy $15.99 (Imperial Radch #3: PBO; A search of Atheok Station's slums turns up someone who shouldn't exist, who might be an ancillary from a ship that's been hiding for millennia. Meanwhile, a messenger from the alien Presger empire arrives, as does Breq's enemy, the divided and quite possibly insane Anaander Mianaai, who is heavily armed and extremely unhappy with Breq. She could flee with ship and crew, but that would leave Athoek in danger. Breq has a desperate plan. The odds aren't good, but that's never stopped her before.)
- Ligotti, Thomas Songs of a Dead Dreamer and Grimscribe $17.00 (Reissue; Reprints 2 collections by a modern master of horror.)
- Lindsey, Erin The Bloodforged $7.99 (Bloodbound #2: PBO; As war between Alden and Oridia intensifies, King Erik is willing to take drastic measures to defend his domain, even if it means sending Prince Liam into a deadly web of intrigue, and traveling into the wild lands of Harram himself. But the biggest threat might be one that neither Alix nor Erik

- could have imagined, or prepared for.)

- Gardner, Erle Stanley The Case of the Lucky Legs $9.99 (Perry Mason #3: Reissue; When the scam artist who defrauded a young woman turns up dead with her lover's knife in his chest, Perry Mason must exonerate the young woman and find the real killer.)
- Gardner, Erle Stanley The Case of the Howling Dog $9.99 (Perry Mason #4: Reissue; When a man comes to him for help with a neighbor's dog, then draws up a will leaving everything to the neighbor's wife, Perry Mason decides a visit to his client's home is in order; he finds one missing wife, one poisoned dog, and one corpse.)
- Gardner, Erle Stanley The Case of the Curious Bride $9.99 (Perry Mason #5: Reissue; A con man married a woman, took her money, then disappeared in a plane crash. Years later, she's married to a wealthy man when her first husband turns up, looking to pocket a fortune or make her bigamy public. Desperate to protect her good name, she turns to Perry Mason for help.)
- Goldberg, Tod Gangsterland $15.95 (Hammett Prize finalist. Mafia hitman Sal Cupertine makes his first-ever mistake, killing three FBI agents in the process. Surgery and some intensive training later, Sal becomes Las Vegas rabbi David Cohen. But it turns out the Chicago Mafia isn't quite done with him - and neither is a rogue FBI agent.)
- Grafton, Sue X $28.95 (Kinsey Milhone #24: Kinsey is up against a serial killer who leaves no trace of his crimes. She can identify him, but can she prove her case against him before she becomes his next victim?)
- Hambly, Barbara Crimson Angel $17.95 (Benjamin January #13: 1838: Jefferson Vitrack, the white half-brother of January's wife, believes that the family's lost treasure is in Haiti. But the world's only Black Republic looks with murderous mistrust upon strangers, and January is reluctant to go. After Vitrack is murdered, and attempts are made on January and his wife, he realizes that he has no choice.)
- Hammett, D/Ward, N The Lost Detective: Becoming Dashiell Hammett $26.00 (A look at how Hammett transformed himself from Pinkerton detective to author of iconic detective novels, linking Hammett's life experiences to his stories.)
- Hardisty, Paul E. The Abrupt Physics of Dying $14.95 (Clay Straker #1: Shortlisted for the New Blood Dagger. Oil company engineer Clay Straker is abducted by terrorists, who demand that he help uncover the cause of a sickness at a village close to the company's processing facility. As the country descends into civil war and village children start dying, Clay is caught between opposing armies, controllers of the country's oil wealth, Yemen's shadowy secret service, and rival factions.)
- Harrod-Eagles, Cynthia Star Fall $17.95 (Bill Slider #17: Antiques expert Rowland Egerton, the darling of daytime TV, has been stabbed to death in his luxurious West London home. Egerton's partner found the body; did he also do the deed? Or was it a burglary gone wrong? A missing Faberge box and Impressionist painting point that way. But as Slider and his team investigate, none of the facts seem to fit.)
- Hart, Elsa Jade Dragon Mountain $25.99 (1708: Exiled librarian Li Du arrives in a town near

- the Tibetan border, and finds it teaming with travelers, soldiers, and merchants, all come to witness an eclipse of the sun commanded by China's Emperor. When a Jesuit astronomer is found murdered in the local magistrate's home, Tibetan bandits are blamed, but Li Du suspects otherwise and sets out to discover the truth.)
- Hawken, Sam Missing $14.95 (PBO; Gold Dagger shortlist. Jack Searle often takes his two stepdaughters, Lidia and Marina, to visit their Mexican relatives across the border in Nuevo Laredo. - Henderson, Smith Fourth of July Creek $15.99 (New Blood Dagger shortlist. After trying to help Benjamin, a nearly feral boy living in the Montana wilderness, social worker Pete Snow comes face to face with the boy's profoundly disturbed father Jeremiah Pearl. Pete slowly earns a measure of trust from the paranoid survivalist, but Pearl's activities spark the interest of the FBI, putting Pete at the center of a manhunt from which no one will emerge unscathed.)
- Howell, Dorothy Beach Bags and Burglaries $7.99 (Haley Randolph #7: On a vacation at an island resort, fashionista Haley Randolph finds a missing maid's body on the beach. Everyone says it's an accident, but Haley thinks there's a lot going unsaid.)
- Indridason, Arnaldur Strange Shores $16.00 (Reykjavik #11: Shortlisted for the International Dagger. Decades ago, a young woman disappeared from the frozen fjords of Iceland, leaving in her wake a tempest of lies, betrayal and revenge. Now Inspector Erlendur is on the hunt in that wilderness, looking for the missing woman, and for his long-lost brother.)
- Jakubowski, Maxim (ed) The Mammoth Book of Best British Crime 11 $14.95 (PBO; Anthology. 41 stories, originally published in 2012 and 2014, by British authors.)
- James, Bill Snatched $17.95 (New museum and gallery director George Lepage hopes that his tenure in the post will be short and profitable. But first a deranged former staff member causes a riot in the Folk Department, and then three recently purchased, ruinously expensive paintings of dubious authenticity are stolen.)
- Kappes, Tonya A Ghostly Demise $7.99 (Emma Lee Raines #3: PBO; After 5 years, Mary Anna Hardy's deadbeat dad is back in town - or at least his ghost is. Turns out he didn't run off. He was murdered, and he wants Emma Lee to find out who did the deed.)
- Keller, Julia Last Ragged Breath $25.99 (Bell Elkins #4: Royce Dillard doesn't remember much about the 1972 Buffalo Creek disaster - he was only 2 when negligent strip mining and heavy rain produced a flood that killed his parents, and nearly killed him. Now he's on trial for murder. Prosecutor Bell Elkins faces her toughest challenge yet in a case involving vengeance, greed, and the fierce struggle for social justice.)
- Kepnes, Caroline You $16.00 (New Blood Dagger shortlist. When beautiful Guinevere Beck comes to the bookstore where Joe Goldberg works, he Googles the name on her credit card, learns what he needs to know about her, and orchestrates a series of events to transform himself from stalker to boyfriend, removing the obstacles that stand in his way - even if it means murder.)
- King, C. Daly Obelists Fly High $10.95 (Reissue; Originally published in 1935. Capt. Michael Lord of the NYPD is the target of shots fired on board a plane, where a murder has already taken place. Will the detective survive? Will anyone emerge alive from the now-plummeting aircraft? And who killed the surgeon the captain was guarding?)
- Lackberg, Camilla The Drowning $25.95 (Patrik Hedstrom #6: A reclusive Fjallbacka resident's new novel has been published to rave reviews, but now he's receiving anonymous threats. When one of the writer's closest friends disappears, detective Patrick Hedstrom investigates.)

- Locke, Attica Pleasantville $26.99 (Jay Porter #2: Gold Dagger shortlist. 1996: When a volunteer for a mayoral candidate goes missing on Election Night, in a neighborhood for upwardly mobile blacks in Houston, a local - a candidate's nephew - is arrested. Jay Porter reluctantly finds himself serving as a defense attorney in a case that will also put an electoral process on trial, exposing the dark side of power and those determined to keep it.)
- Lopez Jr., Arnaldo Chickenhawk $18.95 (Old-fashioned cop Eddie Ramos and his young tech-savvy partner Tommy Cucitti investigate when young male prostitutes start turning up dead

all over Manhattan North.)

Ludlum, R/Freveletti, J The Geneva Strategy $9.99 (Covert-One #11: When several high-ranking members of the US government are taken in a mass kidnapping, Jon Smith and the Covert-One team begin a worldwide search to recover them. After being rescued they show signs of brainwashing.)

Lutz, John Slaughter $9.99 (Frank Quinn #10: PBO; A jogger's death, subway derailments, plummeting elevators, collapsing construction cranes, apartment explosions - all creating a bloody, senseless puzzle. Detective Frank Quinn will have to risk everything he holds precious to bring in this killer.)

MacInerney, Karen Killer Jam $15.95 (Dewberry Farm #1: When Houston reporter Lucy Resnick buys her grandmother's farm, she expects a simple life as a homesteader. Then an oil exploration truck arrives, announcing plans to replace her broccoli patch with an oil derrick. When the woman who ordered the drilling turns up dead, Lucy is the sheriff's top suspect.)

Margolin, Phillip Woman with a Gun $15.99 (A famous photo, of a woman in a wedding dress holding a gun behind her back, captures novelist Stacey Kim's imagination. Stacey discovers the woman was suspected of killing her husband, but the murder was never solved. Stacey finds everyone involved has a different opinion on the case. But the photographer, who may know the whole story, isn't talking.)

Marsh, Ngaio False Scent $14.95 (Roderick Alleyn #21: Reissue; Inspector Alleyn investigates when Mary Bellamy, sweetheart of the London stage, somehow sprays herself with deadly insecticide instead of her favorite perfume.)

Marsh, Ngaio Hand in Glove $14.95 (Roderick Alleyn #22: Reissue; No one could doubt that Mr. Pyke was genuinely distraught to hear that his neighbor Harry Cartell had turned up dead. But how did Mr. Pyke come to write the letter of condolence before the body was found? And how did boring, stuffy Mr. Cartell inspire such violence?)

Marsh, Ngaio Dead Water $14.95 (Roderick Alleyn #23: Reissue; Emily Pride is pleased to have inherited an island, but appalled by the Pixie Falls spring and its 'miraculous' healing properties. She's determined to put an end to the locals' efforts to make a bit of money off the spring. Could the locals' frustration have bubbled up into murderous rage? Inspector Alleyn will have to sort it out.)

Marsh, Ngaio Killer Dolphin (alternate title: Death at the Dolphin) $14.95 (Roderick Alleyn #24: Reissue; Edgar Award finalist. Impresario Peregrine Jay now owns the Dolphin Theatre, and has restored it to its former glory, planning to celebrate the reopening with a new play about the discovery of a true Shakespearean accessory. Inspector Alleyn investigates when murder takes center stage.)

Masello, Robert The Einstein Prophecy $14.95 (1944: Army Lt. Lucas Athan accompanies an Egyptian sarcophagus to Princeton University, where he and archaeologist Simone Rashid unwittingly release forces for both good and evil while struggling to decipher the strange contents. The fate of the world now hangs on Albert Einstein's research, and on Lucas's ability to defeat a powerful unholy adversary.)
